

Dear Friends and Family:

The Cal Poly Men's Water Polo Team has started their 2003 season and has much to work for after making CWPA history last year. The team became the first team to win two consecutive national titles, and was the first team to win a national championship in their home pool when they hosted the 2003 National Championships at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. With several returnees and key new players, the men's team is in contention of winning another national championship. Working out nearly 20 hours a week, this year's team is in tiptop shape, mentally and physically. Coach John Marsh, the last two year's Men's National Coach of the Year, returns to lead this year's squad to defend their title. The National Championships this year will be held in Austin, Texas on November 7 & 8, and Cal Poly has every intention of going and winning again.

With severe budget cuts throughout all of Cal Poly, ASI Recreational Sports is unable to give the annual grant to the team. Although the team is actively fundraising and paying dues to help fund this year's season, we are asking for your assistance to ease the financial burden on our players by making a donation to the team.

Any and all donations are greatly appreciated, and you may use the form below to donate any amount. As a thank you for each contribution of $50, we will send you a new 2003 Cal Poly Water Polo T-shirt (please include shirt size with donation).

On behalf of the Cal Poly Men's Water Polo Team, we thank you for your time and support. For schedules, player names, and fun pictures, please see our team website at <http://waterpolo.calpoly.edu/mens/>.
